Section 1 Personal Overview

I am always motivated to do my best in everything I do, I want to achieve my fullest in everything I do that's including my subjects and hobbies. I previously studied at 'The Brunts Academy' which means I have finished my GSCE's. I had high attendance which meant I was never late or had random days off without notice and I had no behaviour points which meant I didn't mess around, I got on with my work and I focused on the tasks given to me. However, I am now currently studying at 'Vision West Nottinghamshire College' and I have currently got high attendance and I am always motivated to come in as I enjoy the course I am taking as it's something I have always had such a passion about.

•I really enjoy anything to do with Tech. This involves camera's, computers, editing and commentaries. I have always had a passion for this as I started film-editing around the age of 9. I knew this was a future career for myself to work around media.

I am down for any challenges that face me, this means I like to try new jobs and hobbies that I may have not thought I would do in my spare time or as a career path. Furthermore, I enjoy taking on new challenges to enhance my abilities and build a better reputation for after school.

Overall, I am a hard-worker who helps people out in any scenarios that I can help them with. I play video games most of the days I am free and I always browse social media for the news to keep up with the world or even some- times I will read a newspaper as I believe everyone should know what's happening in the world.

I am motivated in an array of different subjects; I always work hard in all of my lessons and I never lose concentration when potential distractions are taking place around me. I previously was undertaking IT, English, Mathematics, Creative Media, Physical Education, Drama, History and Science but now I am taking a Level 3 Diploma course in Film and Television Production.

I would like to become a Film Producer/Director as my main job role as I have had a love for films since the age of 4 and always knew that becoming a Producer or Director or even Actor was a dream career. For back-up opportunities; I would even like to become an editor, a presenter across radio or TV or a graphics designer; I have a large interest in editing films or little home-made videos I have created. I mainly practice commentaries at home as I run a YouTube channel which is based off video games so I have all the tech I need and I give people advice on how to get a channel running. If somebody asked me how to setup a channel, and a budget, I could accumulate a list specifying each part within a short space of time. So, I am amazing at giving IT advice, and also have great knowledge when it comes to actually building a setup. I took acting classes when I was younger to improve my speech so I now I am confident talking to others and I can have a conversation with someone I have just met. I have performed at the local pantomime with a few celebrities and I have auditioned at Billy Elliot in London however I didn't get the part. I have done a few adverts for companies that aren't in the high range market.

Section 3 Key Skills/Experience

•I run a YouTube gaming channel and I create graphics at home for fun. I have make multiple cartoon graphics for myself and friends as it is a hobby however I decided to take it further and go for a job skill in it as I took IT which surrounds graphics for my GSCE's and it also included movie making and now that I am college I am taking a level 3 diploma course in Film and Television.

•I am capable to work with others, I am polite and I show respect to others. I am confident which allows myself to speak my ideas and I am a good listener which allows me to take on board my teams ideas as well. I put 100% effort into all of my tasks given me either if I am doing independent work or if I am with a team, I don't get easily distracted either.

- I am currently working as a sales assistant at Beales Department Store (based in Mansfield) in the cooking area as this is my sector to serve customers. I have been working there since the 10th of September 2018, I currently love being a sales assistant as I believe it has boosted my social skills by making conversations with the customers and also providing great customer service for the customers as they come first at all times.
- I also have a valid UK drivers license and drive a car meaning that I can get to work on time and not rely on public transport or lifts, etc.
- At the current moment of time, I am doing 80 hours of work experience for Mansfield District Council as a main Producer for their social team. Myself and two other colleagues go out around the local area and film what the council want making, this includes having to go out and talk to members of the public and ask if they can be interviewed in front of the camera which has boosted my confidence as well as being completely independent and having to know how much pressure is on as it's the council that want the video making and it's not a college project.
- Lastly, I am an NCS graduate which means I was in a group for 4 weeks in the summer of 2018 from July the 16th to August the 10th in participating in making a difference for my local area. The first week, I spent camping in a campsite in Manchester and met my group for the first time and did challenging activities such as canoeing, swimming in the lake, archery, hiking, etc. Then on the second week, I went to Derby University where NCS taught me how to budget and me and my group was set tasks on how to cook meals with £1 per person and taught me life skills that I will need for the future ahead as well as sports. On the third and fourth week, I spent it at Mansfield and me and my group had to organise our own charity events and find a charity we would like to raise money for and so we created a company of 'Hopeful Homes' and our main target charity was 'The Canon Trust' which helps people in need or are homeless. We ended up raising over £1000 for this charity and I was really grateful for having the opportunity to do NCS as it taught me so many life skills that I will need and I believe I have now acquired them and some of the skills consist of teamwork, independence, motivation, resilience and hard-working attributes.

Section 4- Hobbies/ Interests

- I love to make videos for YouTube as I have a desire to become a film producer/director meaning I love to work with all the new high-tech cameras, I currently use a Canon EOS M3 alongside an iMac 4k Retina 2018 Model to edit on alongside software programmes such as Final Cut Pro X and Adobe Premiere Pro.
- When I get spare time, I love to socialise with my friends in person and when I get home I love to have a good session on video games with my friends on my Custom Built Gaming PC. I also listen to music everyday if that is in the car or my phone, it is just relaxing and I believe it helps me throughout everything (e.g. school studying).

- I do enjoy to keep myself in the fashion industry and I do always believe in looking presentable is key to being successful so I like to make good impressions to new people I meet.
- Lastly, I love to go outside and do activities such as Rock climbing, tree climbing, Canoeing, swimming in lakes, mountain biking, etc. I also love to go to the gym and keep myself fit and healthy as I am really into fitness and love any outdoor activities.
